It is located in the high of Calatañazor, dated on the year 1.765, rebuilt keeping all its original structure of oak and pine wood; they are typical of the area. The house has 7 wide and different bedrooms, with full bathroom and cone of them, with alcove like years ago was. All the furniture is old, has two social living rooms, one with pine kitchen and other with library, and a garden of 500 m2.

RESTAURANT "EL PALOMAR" The building of "Dovecote" has been mainly conditioned by two factors: the experience and the knowledge of the builders teachers who built it, next to the materials which they had. It dates on 1700 and it has been rebuilt with materials use in the building of "the dovecote": the limestone, pine or juniper wood for the cover, doors and interior hangers for the pigeons sit down there and the baked mud as Moorish tiles. Inside of the dovecote there are nest, with the same material, its form is of a cube and with a reticulated disposal; the separation will be between 20 and 25 cm, with between 8 and 10 nets for m2. Beginning to build 60 cm from the floor. The lintel is above the door and step inside voids are of wood, of juniper. The masonry facade will revoke mortar of lime and sand, to protect the walls from rain and frost. But is in the cover of this dovecote where it is the wealth of its shapes, the imagination for embellishing it, sending serenity and balance. With the responsibility of rehabilitate and keep some so linked to the origins of this village like is this dovecote, because in this lordship of Calatañazor is the only one which keeps it. From half century the dovecote has been disappearing in all the villages of this region. The restaurant has a firewood oven from 1700, where the roast lambs are cooked, in "firewood oven", it has grill and among its typical dishes offer beans, gazpacho, garling soup, pastoral crumbs, salad, asparagus, roast lamb, lamb chops grilled rib eye and grilled steak, grilled beef steak, roast loin, pot loin, crayfish, Navarre trout and grilled sirloin ...
